Pullman.

“The new Pullman school-house, which has been in process of construction for nearly a year, is now completed and ready for use. It is one of the finest structures of the kind in the country, and as such is worthy of more than passing notice. The following details regarding it are given by Mr. S. S. Beman, the architect: It is situated south of the Arcade Building, in the midst of a play-ground two acres in extent, which will be ornamented with trees and walks, and fronts west. The size of the building is 75 x 112 feet, three stories and basement. The material is pressed brick, trimmed with buff Amherst stone, and the style is modern Gothic. In its front are two good-sized entrances—one for each sex. Over one of the entrances is an imposing belfry tower ninety feet in hight [sic]. The basement is eleven feet in hight [sic], is laid with Portland cement, and contains spacious play-rooms for use in stormy weather, heating and ventilating apparatus, water-closets, etc. The ground floor contains five school-rooms and a Principal’s room. Each shool-room [sic] is fourteen feet high, and is provided with spacious cloak-rooms and a private room for the teacher, furnished with washbasin and other conveniences. The entrances open into a large and well-lighted hall 14 x 60 feet, which is repeated on each floor. The second and third floors are reached by large and convenient staircases broken by landings. The second floor is divided into six large class-rooms and two small ones for private study. The third floor contains two large class-rooms, one small ones and large rooms for laboratories and lecture rooms.

“The building, including furniture, cost about $45,000, and is intended to seat 600 scholars, independent of the smaller rooms. If necessary 800 scholars can be properly accommodated. The first floor is intended for the smaller children.”

Extracted from The Arcade Mercantile Journal Saturday, August 30, 1890:

“The following is a brief historical summary of the growth of the public schools here to the time of our annexation to the city: The Pullman public schools were organized Nov. 1, 1881, in the R. I. (Rock Island) depot, D. R. Martin, principal, and Mrs. I. M. Biden, assistant; 50 pupils enrolled.

“Miss Aggie Brennan was added to the teaching corps, Jan. 16, 1882, and the school year completed with crowded rooms and many children not attending school because of lack of facilities.

“First Board of Director—E. W. Henricks, Mr. Mead and Noah Van Winkle.

“In the fall of 1882 school opened with eleven teachers, two of these being assigned to the school at One Hundred and Fifth street. Two new rooms were opened in the freight depot, and the various nooks and corners of Market Hall were utilized for school purposes until Feb. 3, 1883, when the new school building was opened for use. (Ed note: This would have been the Pullman School located at 113th and Cottage Grove Avenue which opened in February 1883.) The school was this year controlled by a Board of Education, of which Dr. John McLean was President.

“In the autumn of 1884 two new rooms were opened at the corner of One Hundred and Seventh street and Fulton avenue for the accommodation of the children of that vicinity. The total enrollment this school year was 1,225, with an average daily attendance of 715. Number of teachers employed, nineteen.

“Since the school year 1884-85 the enrollment each year has been, in the vicinity of 1,300, with an average daily attendance of from 700 to 800 pupils. The teaching force for the past few years has been twenty-one regular teachers and a teacher of drawing. Last year the total enrollment and the daily attendance was less than for several preceding years, the falling off being in the northern portion of the town. The total enrollment for last year was 1,127, and the average daily attendance 737.3. Dr. McLean was President of the Board of Education from the time of its organization until it went out of existence because of annexation to the city of Chicago.”

Extracted from The Pullman Journal, January 14, 1893:

“The Kindergarten school in the Arcade is prospering and meeting the full expectations of its founders. It accept pupils from two to six years of age. As a preparation for the primary grades of the public schools, nothing can compare with Kindergarten work.”

Extracted from The Chicago Tribune, June 26, 1897:

“From the Pullman School thirty-four pupils graduated. Daily News Medals were awarded to: Willis H. Hillstrom and Cornelius Vander Veen. Frances Mc Guano, Otto Kupka and Emily Nettleton won the Foster diplomas.

“Riverdale: The class consisted of three at the Riverdale School. Daily News Medals went to Naomi Grant. Matilda de Vries and Arthur de Vries received the Foster diplomas.”

Extracted from the Chicago Board of Education Proceedings, March 29, 1905, Page 558:

“Condemn Property in Pullman for Schools

“ . . . A small Park in Pullman located on 113th Street, Morse and Watt Avenues, which said property is sought to be purchased by the City of Chicago, in trust for the use of schools, for a school site, as to the compensation to be paid for said property, but that he has been unable to agree with the owners as to such compensation.

“The Committee therefore recommends that the title to said real estate be acquired under the eminent domain law for use of schools, as provided by law . . .”

Extracted from A Report of the Pullman Public Schools, compiled by Duane Doty for Hon Robert T. Lincoln, September 25, 1900:

“Our school at Pullman is an elementary one (engaged upon the first eight years of school work), our graduates going from here to Hyde Park to attend the High School grades.”

The school year ending June 1900 reported 1,577 total enrollment with an average daily attendance of 1,264. There were 30 teachers.

Extractions from The Chicago Tribune, July 4, 1907:

“Blot Out Henry George.

“Name of Single Taxer Ordered Cut from School Front.

“A man with a mallet and a stone chisel will remove the name of Henry George, father of single tax, from the big slab over the entrance to the new school at One Hundred and Thirteenth street and Morse avenue, in Pullman, tomorrow “by order of the board of education.” And after the name of Mr. George has been chipped off of the stone the name “George M. Pullman school” will be carved in its place. . .”

“ . . . Wish of Pullman Residents.

“ The board took action last night as a result of a petition bearing the signatures of several hundred residents of Pullman asking that the school be renamed in honor of the palace car magnate. . . .”

About the Pullman School Index

The Pullman School Index was compiled during the Covid19 isolation pandemic of 2020. I used the sources that I had access to during that time. After the Harold Washington Library opened again, I was able to consult their collection of the Chicago Board of Education Proceedings. Names of graduates through June 1920 have been added to this index. Unfortunately, the Chicago Board of Education Proceedings volume containing the January 1919 class list is not in their collection. Efforts were made to obtain the list of graduates from other possible resources but, to date, have been unsuccessful.

The Index begins with only one name in 1885; 1887; 1890 through 1918 has all been found and entered; January 1919 names are missing with the exception of one name that was found on a graduation certificate on the Pullman-museum website. Graduates of the January and June classes of 1920 have been included.

The Riverdale School was a branch of the Pullman School; graduates from Riverdale School are noted in this index when reported as such.

Sources included: List of early graduation class names obtained from the Pullman School in 1989, Chicago Board of Education Proceedings, various years; The Arcade Journal newspaper, The Calumet Weekly Index newspaper, and South Suburban Genealogical and Historical Society Research Series Volume Five: The Greater Roseland Area of Chicago; Schools.

Index Key: JA = January Graduating Class

JU = June Graduating Class

For additional historical information, consult South Suburban Genealogical and Historical Society Research Series Volume Five: The Greater Roseland Area of Chicago; Schools.
