History of the Parish

Holy Rosary Church, Pullman Ill.

I Jno. Waldron Jr., a nephew of Jno. Waldron of St. John's Church, Chicago cr 18th & Clark sts was appointed pastor of this new parish May 21st, 1882.

Great difficulty was experienced in the establishment of the parish as George M. Pullman of Palace Car routinely refused to sell any land for a building of a church imagining, in his foolishness, that the different denominations would band together and rent his beautiful stone church at $2500.00 a year. The people were poor, all renters, uncertain of their positions, consequently little interest was taken in church matters. Under such and many other discouraging (contingencies?) I started this poor frame building at a cost $7500.00 for property $2100.00 and on the day of its dedication Jan 21st 1883, only $1000.00 were due on the building. The principal officers in Pullman, at the time, were H. J. Kimsall, Supt. A. Rapp, manager E. W. Henricks, Chief Clerk and Jno. Hopkins, general time keeper.

Jno. Waldron
Pastor

The first mass was said in Market Hall on the first Sunday of April 1882 by Father Retellier, who was collecting funds for his church at St. George, Ill.

Jno. Waldron

Father John Krnell (Krwel or Krhell) of _____ College, Kankakee said mass the following Sundays.

Extracted from the Calumet Index, Friday, March 31, 1916:

“Heard on the Avenue by The Party Who Tells All”

That on March 28, the Holy Rosary church, school houses and grounds were freed from debt and the event was celebrated in Market Hall.

Extracted from A History of the Parishes, Archdiocese of Chicago:

“On May 21, 1882, Rev. John Waldron was appointed by Archbishop Patrick A. Feehan to organize an English-speaking parish in the Town of Pullman. He celebrated Mass in Market Hall and, in the face of opposition from Pullman, purchased five lots at the southwest corner of 110th and Indiana ave. in Roseland, which was then a Dutch farming community. Construction began on a frame church was dedicated on Jan. 21, 1883 by Archbishop Feehan.

“The membership of Holy Rosary Church numbered 1,500 persons, the majority of whom were Irish. ...In 1886, Father Waldron entered into an oral agreement with George Pullman to build a Catholic Church at the southwest corner of 113th and South Park ave. Pullman stipulated that Solon S. Beman be commissioned to draw up plans for Holy Rosary Church so that the edifice would blend in with the red brick buildings in the Town, which had been designed by this architect.

“Ground was broken and the basement walls had been completed at a cost of $6,000 when Father Waldron learned that Pullman would not grant him a deed to the property. Work was halted, and the priest resigned his post.

“...Rev. Patrick J. Tinan, an assistant at St. James Church, was named pastor. Under his leadership, the deed to the church was obtained in line with diocesan regulations, and additional property was purchased from the Pullman Palace Car Co.

“On Dec. 4, 1887, the basement of the present church was opened for services. A rectory was built in 1888 at 11310 South Park ave.... On June 1, 1890, Archbishop Feehan laid the cornerstone of Holy Rosary Church.

“In 1900, Father Tinan drew up plans for a parish school, the cornerstone of which was laid in 1901. In September 1902, the School Sisters of Notre Dame opened Holy Rosary school with an enrollment of 216 students. The brick school is located at 11320 South King Drive.

“On Mar. 4, 1937, a fire in the church gutted the interior of the structure, but left intact the walls and steeple.

“In November 1950, the Augustinian Fathers acquired the old Pullman School of Manual Training at 109th and South Park ave. and in September 1951, they opened Mendel high school for boys at this location.

“Dr. George J. Fleming prepared a detailed history of Holy Rosary parish in connection with the 90th jubilee, which was celebrated on Apr. 13, 1972....”

Extracted from The Arcade Journal:

December 21, 1889: “Work is progressing finely upon the Holy Rosary Church.”

January 18, 1890: “The Holy Rosary Church only needs the steeple, which is to go on the northeast corner, to make it one of the prettiest church edifices in Cook County.”

March 29, 1890: “The outline of the Holy Rosary Church steeple can now be seen.”

April 12, 1890: “On Thursday a red, white and blue streamer floated from the apex of the new steeple of Holy Rosary Church. The steeple will soon be finished.”

April 19, 1890: “The stars and stripes still wave over the apex of Holy Rosary’s new steeple, the carpenters’ strike having delayed the completion of that structure.”

May 3, 1890: “The slaters are engaged in slating the spire of Holy Rosary Church.”

May 31, 1890: “The Corner-Stone of Holy Rosary Church. On Sunday, June 1, at 3:30 p.m. the corner-stone of the new Catholic Church under the title of “Our Lady of the Holy Rosary,” will be laid with imposing and solemn ceremonies. The ceremony of blessing and laying the stone will be performed by Most Rev. Archbishop Feehan, Metropolitan of the Catholic Church in Illinois, and Archbishop of the diocese of Chicago. The sermon will be preached by Rt. Rev. Bishop Moore, of St. Augustine, Florida, whose Cathedral is the oldest church in America. The congregation of Holy Rosary Church are enthusiastic over this great event, which marks an epoch in religious circles in the beautiful village of Pullman, to the many attractions of which this handsome edifice will add another, and they have invited their brethren from the neighboring parishes to join with them in its celebration. It is anticipated that this demonstration will be the largest ever seen in this part of Cook County.”

June 7, 1890: “The laying of the corner-stone of Holy Rosary Church last Sunday by Archbishop Feehan, in the presence of several thousand people, was an impressive ceremony and one which will always be remembered by all who witnessed it. It is quite probable that an account of the exercises will be printed in pamphlet form.”

The closing mass at Holy Rosary was held on Saturday, June 28, 2008, thus ending the 126-year history of this parish. A processional to St. Anthony’s took place the following day, Sunday, June 29, 2008.
